

About myself

Introduction

My name is Nishant Budhathoki. I live in Imadol, Lalitpur. I am 17 years old. I currently am in grade 11 and am enrolled in St. Xaviers School , Jawalakhel. Despite my young age and lack of understanding about the real world datas handling and stuff my passion brought me to broadway Infosys where I'm currently studying my Data science course. I also have completed my Python basic course from this institution and have learned many things. I decided to take my understanding further in this sector and I believe if I work hard I will be at advantage in the future.

Something interesting about me

I would consider myself as a really boring person but here are some interesting things about me. I was never the best in my class in anything but there is something special about me and that is consistency. I never topped my class but I never once failed in any test or never have I got below average grades in any exams or tests. I was never best at sports but people still called me talented. I have multiple hobbies though not one have I mastered. I can play flute , I can solve a Rubik's cube , I can drive a car , I can draw , I play chess and many more but I never focused on one single thing so not one hobby have I mastered.

Top secrets about me

Main secret about me is that I despise people better than me I hate when someone effortlessly does something I failed trying so hard for. I secretly get jealous but never show it in my actions or my behavior.
